

I am appalled by the attempt give large media the options to get even larger and control more market share. This will be the beginning of the end of free speech. Disney, General elevtric, Viacom and others will cotrol what the public hears and sees. We cerainly will see less criticism of these companies and their products.